

Biography

Author, Comedian, Corporate Speaker and Columnist

Best-selling author and comedian, Ian Moore's 'Death & Croissants' and the follow-ups in the cosy mystery series 'Death & Fromage' and 'Death at the Chateau' have proved hugely popular. The Man Who Didn't Burn, the first in a new thriller series was critically acclaimed. He has appeared on BBC 2's Richard Osman's House of Games, and won many plaudits for his performance in the last series of BBC Radio 4's long-running The Now Show.

Ian is also a columnist and podcaster and the author of best-selling memoirs, 'A la Mod: My So-Called Tranquil Family Life in Rural France', and the follow up, 'C'est Modnifique!: Adventures of an English Grump in Rural France'. À la Mod will be re-issued, repackaged and re-released in July 2024 as Vive le Chaos.

As a much sought after comedian, compère and corporate awards host Ian has performed at corporate events ranging from twelve Harley Davidson executives in a hotel suite to hosting a live Q&A in front of 3,500 people at a packed-out Hammersmith Apollo. Following a sellout run alongside Catherine Tate, Ian was selected to appear at the pinnacle of all comedy festivals – Montreal's Just for Laughs. Alongside the likes of Jimmy Carr and Lee Mack, Ian performed in the sellout Britcom showcase and the Worldcom show at the festival's finale.

Ian Moore also makes mean chutneys and jams.

Television Appearances Include:

Richard Osman's House of Games (BBC 2)

Comedy Big Mouths (Channel 5)

The Stand Up Show (BBC1)

Unspun (Dave)

The Football's On (BT Sport)

Nexus (TRT World)

World Comedy Tour (Comedy Central, USA & Channel 9, Australia)

The Comedy Store (Four Series, Channel 5 & Comedy Central)

Quotes: Books and Comedy

'Beautifully done. Very funny indeed. I can't imagine how one plots something like that.

Tremendous work' MILES JUPP

'Good food and a laugh-out-loud mystery. What more could anyone want in these dark times'

MARK BILLINGHAM

'A joyous read!' ALAN CARR

'A writer of immense wit and charm.' PAUL SINHA

'A very funny page-turner. Fantastique!' ADAM KAY

One of the country's top comedians – The Guardian

Don't miss a single word... Moore is a cultured comedian – The Evening Standard

Relaxed, laconic, hilarious – The Stage

A brilliant storyteller – The Boston Phoenix (US)